It's bad enough to have to work in this kind of weather but when is forced to fill up a column of this kind. 'Tis too much.

Anyway some of the young hopeful authors in this office are beginning to paper the walls with rejection slips from magazines. Too bad this room isn't any larger.

They belong to the club which has as its motto, if at first you don't—just keep on worrying the magazine editors.

This is the time of the year when you notice sudden changes in your friends. That far-away look in their eyes may not be an affront to you, but merely an indication that they are thinking of the best bait to be used or where to go to brush up on their golf game. This is the kind of weather that brings 'em out into the open.

Man may laugh at changes in styles for women. So far about the only changes listed for 1930 are long hair and long skirts. The women have suited their own tastes in following these dictations of style however.

Here is what the recent tailor's convention in the east decided was proper for mere man: carrying a cane on all occasions; silk topper, cutaway coat and all the trimmings the proper wear for the successful business man during his laboring hours; stiff collars on all occasions, the soft type being too sloppy appearing, and scarlet dress coats for hunting club affairs. And what some wear at the golf club and others on every other possible occasion we hesitate to say. But look for yourself.

Appears to us that the citizens of Eureka were just getting a little cheap publicity in their attempt to oust their woman mayor. It appears now that after sufficient names were obtained to a recall petition those circulating them stated that they would not be filed. Maybe they couldn't find a candidate to oppose the woman who has started to clean up one of our few remaining frontier cities in the state.

After all these years a technical board has suddenly discovered that Gen. Umberto Nobile was responsible for the tragedy of the Italia and "did not have the ability to command." Funny no one discovered that while the general was going through all the minor ranks. Maybe the explorer really isn't capable, and then again maybe someone has to fix the blame on someone else and Noblie happens to be the best available goat.

When is a man old? Not when he reached 59. Superior Judge Walter Guerin of Los Angeles was not bold enough to say at what age a man might be considered old—but he did render the legal decision that a man is not old at 59. The decision was made when a man attempted to have his sons pay him $300 a month for his upkeep. Judge Guerin insisted that the man was young and strong enough to support himself.

Measles come in regular cycles and we are about due for a siege of them, according to Guy P. Jones, acting state registrar, who has just taken a squint at his records. Never mind calling the doctor though until you see actual signs of the disease, because sometimes the calculations of these figure experts are slightly erroneous.

City Adopts Gas Storage Ordinance

The ordinance regulating the storage and use of gasoline in homes, apartment houses and in business places, was read for the second time at the meeting of the city council last night and adopted.

CITY ADOPTS PLANS FOR COSTS

As the result of action taken by the city council at its meeting last night, it is the belief of City Manager, J. A. McVittie, that the lights in the Twenty-third avenue lighting district, and the Nevin avenue lighting districts, can be turned on about Apri 1, which will make both sections of the city "white-ways."

The council adopted two resolutions of intentions which provide for the maintenance, and the furnishing of electricity in the two districts. Protests, if there are any will be heard on the night of March 10.

In making their estimate of the cost of maintenance, the city manager and city engineer based the first period on which to base maintenance and cost of lights, from April 1, 1930 to June 30 1931, or 15 months.

The maintenance cost in the Twenty-third street district will be $3,315.53. The share to be borne by the city, 15 percent, is $497.33, and the part to be borne by the property owners will be $2,818.20.

The cost to the owner of an inside lot in this district for the 15 months will be $8.58, or a trifle over 57 cents per month.

In the Nevin avenue district which takes in Nevin, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth, the complete maintenance cost is estimated to be $1,456.82. Of this amount the city will pay $218.52, and the property owners $1,238.30.

The cost in this district to a 25-foot lot owner for 15 months will be $8.29, or a trifle over 55 cents a month.

CABINET OF FRANCE FALLS

PARIS, Feb. 7.—UP— The French cabinet, headed by Premier Andre Tardieu ,resigned tonight after holding office only four months.

The resignation was announced after the chamber of deputies, by a vote of 286 to 281, had voted no confidence on the comparatively trivial matter of reduced income taxes for married workingmen.

Finance Minister Henri Cheron, never highly favored in his post by Tardieu, refused to accept the reduction though he insisted the government was in a better financial position than ever before. When left groups overthrew him on this issue, he telephoned to Tardieu, who was ill in bed with grippe and laryngitis.

Tardieu told him to announce the cabinet's resignation, which he did.

President Gaston Doumergue, after receiving the resignation, informed Tardieu he wished him to form another cabinet. The premier was understood to be disinclined to accept at once, believing that the task should be offered first to the radicals who accomplished his overthrow.

Crockett Refinery Wins Water Suit

MARTINEZ, Feb. 17.—When Superior Judge Ben Jones of Lake county denied the Napa valley farmers plea for another injunction to prevent the pumping of the Soscol wells today, the California-Hawaiian Sugar corporation, emerged victor in a fight of almost a year.

The suit against the sugar corporation was filed last year after the corporation's acquisition of the wells, and its announcement that it would build a pipe line to Crockett and convey 1,000,000 gallons of water daily to the Crockett refinery.

CARQUINEZ ARRIVALS

CECILLA DEMILLE, daughter of the motion picture director, will marry Francis E. Calvin in Los Angeles soon.

NAVY MEET AT CRISIS

LONDON, Feb. 17—(U.P.)—The five-power naval conference was in a serious situation tonight. The French and Japanese continued to insist on fleets which might make a general reduction impossible and might even, according to British intimation, force an upward revision of English and American strength as already visualized.

One American delegate told the United Press, "I am optimistic but the situation probably will get worse before it gets better. It is going to require much patience."

Downfall of Premier Andre Tardieu's government in France caused French complications. Word of the resignation created a sensation here. It was believed that the conference work, already delayed by Tardieu's illness, would be further retarded while the French reconstituted their cabinet.

Meet Embarrassed

Tardieu was a moving spirit here. From the beginning of the conference, intensely nationalistic,

Rites Tomorrow For Rodeo Miss

RODEO, Feb. 17.—Funeral services for Miss Kathryn Escamillo, 17 will be held at the St. Michael's church in Rodeo tomorrow morning.

Miss Escamillo, a native of Texas, died at her Rodeo home Sunday, after an illness of over a year.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Escamillo.

HUMPHREY OPENING AGAIN DISCUSSED BEFORE OFFICIALS

Several things happened yesterday in connection with the proposed Humphrey avenue opening.

At the supervisors' meeting vigorous protests were made against going ahead with the work. At the request of supervisor J. N. Long, who was not conversant with the matter, action was postponed.

At the city council meeting last night, the 'ghost' of the same matter bobbed up its head, and during the discussion it developed that if the improvement is gone ahead with, that the property of Julius Walker, one of the petitioners, will be taken and he will be paid damages for it.

Attorney Lee D. Windrem appeared for Walker, and urged that the work proceed, and that it should not be stopped on the protest of a few owners.

The fact that Walker's property would be purchased in the proceeding, was brought out by a question asked by councilman A. B. Hinkley.

Mayor A. L. Paulsen remarked that it looked to him that if such kind of proceedings were permitted, that the city would get the short end of it.

Councilman Mattie Chandler said that when city manager J. A. McVittie appeared before the supervisors and asked that the proceedings be rescinded, that he was only voicing the expressed wish of the members of the council.

Finally the matter was referred to the council as a whole. This action was taken at the request of councilman J. N. Hardnett, as he was absent when the work first came up.

PLANE PARTY LANDS IN INDIA

Forced down by motor trouble, a party of English air adventurers land in the kingdom of Rukhr, in India.

In the party are Major Crespin and his wife, Lucilla, and Dr. Traherne. Crespin and his wife are unhappy together, while it is apparent that Dr. Traherne is in love with Lucilla.

The party is welcomed by the Rajah of Rukh, who, in spite of the friendliness, is a bitter enemy of the English. Knowing that three of his subjects are to be executed by the British for treason and murder, the little party fears that the Rajah will take their lives in exchange for the lives of his subjects.

The party finds that the region worships a green goddess, to whom the natives daily make sacrifices.

One of the party, Major Crespin, discovers that the rajah has a secret wireless set and one night he sends out an appeal to the British for aid. While sending the message, Major Crespin is found by the Rajah and mortally wounded.

The Rajah offered Lucilla her life and her children if she will become one of his wives. She refuses, but the Rajah extends his offer up to the time he plans to secrifice the party on the altar of the green goddess. Shill she refuses.

Preparations are made for the sacrifice. At the altar Traherne attacks the Rajah and is ordered tortured, which causes Lucilla, in desperation, to consider the offer.

Then fate steps in—

But read the rest of this enthralling story day by day in the RECORD-HERALD. Start it this morning.

The story is "The Green Goddess" and it was written by that famous author-critic, William Archer.

Warner Brothers has adapted the story to the screen, starring Geo. Arliss.

Humphries Jr. Gets Annulment

The marriage of William C. Humphries, Jr., and Josephine Humphries in San Jose, last May was annuled yesterday in the court of Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie. William C. Humphries Sr., father of the youth, through his attorney Homer Patterson sued for the annulment stating that the youth was under age and did not have parental consent when the ceremony was performed.

Mrs. Josephine Humphries, thru her attorney C. A. Odell, had recently filed suit for divorce. Attorneys agreed yesterday however that the annulment proceeding would expedite the matter and the divorce complaint was dismissed.

YOUNG BROUGHT INTO PAVING PROBE

'BLACK BOOK' CONTAINS EVIDENCE

OAKLAND, Feb. 17—Elected on a ticket to purge the city of Oakland from graft and corruption, Commissioner C. C. Young, head of the department of public health and safety was today declared to be on the payroll of the Central Paving Bureau of Oakland, according to testimony given before the grand jury.

Ray Fisher, paving salesman, linked Young's name in the investigation of the Oakland paving "scandal," by declaring he was employed by the bureau to draw up plans and blue prints for paving jobs in Oakland. Young is a civil engineer.

Although names of other Oakland commissioners have been drawn into the investigation several times by witnesses, this is the first time that Young has been brought before the public eye, linked with the paving row.

RAT WORRIES LOCAL POLICE

Two officers of the law, frozen into immobility. One kneeling by the side of the curbstone on Macdonald avenue, the other standing about ten feet away, one hand on his club, mentally and physically alert. Both staring with intense gaze at a spot between the sidewalk and the street.

This was the setting that attracted passersby last night; all stopping to satisfy the inherent curiosity of mankind.

Minutes passed, the crowd grew, and the officers remained immobile, glancing up from their strained postures occasionally to 'shush' some curious citizen, who so far forgot his or her manners as to attempt to question the minions of the law.

Finally, from a hole in the curbstone, a white head peered forth and as quickly ducked back into cover again, and interested parties to the happening started to drift away, muttering as they went, "rats."

Which was truly spoken, as the object of the officers' scrutiny was only a white rat which ducked in and out of his hole in the pavement.

The officers soon joined the crowd and left the rat to his sleep At the last reports on the affair, a young man was standing patiently above the hole, a heavy stick in his hand, with the earnest determination of exterminating the rodent.

Mrs. R. Fraser Called By Death

Death claimed another pioneer citizen of Richmond last night when Mrs. Rose L. Fraser died at her home, 759 Twenty-second street.

Mrs. Fraser came to Richmond 18 years ago from the east. She has made her home here ever since.

Deceased was born in Gallipolis Ohio, in 1875. She was a member of the Richmond lodge of Rebekahs and the Richmond Homestead of Yeomen. She was a past president of the Muncie chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution.

She leaves her husband, Robert E. Fraser of Richmond and a sister, Mrs. L. G. Williams, of Muncie, Ind.

Funeral services are pending at the Bert Curry chapel here.

Helen Dickey To Take Post As Teacher Head

Helen Dickey, will be installed as president of the Richmond Teachers' association tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the Roosevelt junior high school auditorium.

Other officers who will be installed tomorrow night are: Herbert Hunn, vice president; John Motell, secretary and Margaret Judge, treasurer.

The out-going officers of the organization are: Norrine Buchanan, president; Margaret Skinner vice president; Blanche Kirner, secretary and Charles MacLafferty treasurer.

A special program will also be presented at the installation tomorrow night. Professor Kany of the University of California will speak on "A Musical Journey Thru Spain." Musical selections will be presented by the choral section of the Richmond Teachers' association. The chorus will be directed by Mrs. Louise Robinson.

Following the installation and entertainment, refreshments will be served in the Roosevelt cafeteria.

Norinne Buchanan, president, will preside during the installation tomorrow night, while Helen Dickey, incoming president, will occupy the chair during the latter part of the evening.

Plan Proposed To Aid County Wells

MARTINEZ, Feb. 17.—A. C. Gehringer, Clayton district landowner, today submitted to the board of supervisors a proposal that the county embark upon a program of construction of dams at stragetic points to allow water to be impounded and seep to under ground channels to replenish a rapidly diminishing water table.

Gehringer has studied the water situation in this county for several years and in the past has made repeated warnings of a diminishing water table.

The supervisors deferred the proposition for future consideration.

Dams could be built on small streams at several points in the county to conserve the water flow and allow it to seep to underground beds and underground strata, Gehringer declared.

Gehringer, in submitting his proposal to the supervisors, presented several sketches to show the type of dam proposed. The dam, he declared could be built at a conservative estimate placed the amount of seepage into underground strata at 2000 gallons per minute.

El Cerrito Puts Ban On Electioneering

Activity in the coming city election in El Cerrito for members of the council was indicated at the meeting Monday night when the council of El Cerrito passed a resolution by a vote of three to two, notifying all city employes that no electioneering can be done on the city's time and anyone violating the resolution will be removed by the commissioner of that department.

Councilman J. R. Beck, who introduced the resolution, stated that numerous complaints had come to him of city employes electioneering for candidates on the city's time and that he believed their time when on duty should be devoted to city work.

Councilman Phil A. Lee, who is running for reelection this spring stated that he thought the resolution was directed at him and would see that all employes of the city who live up to the resolution as well as his department.

The incumbents who are running for reelection are Charles W. Zimmerman and Phil A. Lee.

Following was the vote on the resolution: Ayes, Councilmen J. R. Beck, Peter Larsen and Charles W. Zimmerman; nays, councilmen Ernest O'Brien and Phil A. Lee.

Additional Tennis Courts Asked Here

The Richmond tennis club thru its president W. L. Seawright, and its secretary, Mrs. R. E. Radke, last night asked the city council to provide additional tennis courts in the city.

The present courts are good ones, for which the club thanked the council, but stated they were inadequate, being crowded all of the time, and people waiting in lines for an opportunity to play.

The club said the dressing rooms were dark, asked that they be painted, and also suggested that hot water showers be installed.

The communication was turned over to City Manager J. A. McVittie for a report.

Carlson Named On County Law Board

Gov. C. C. Young has announced the appointment of Thomas M. Carlson, Richmond attorney and former member of the state legislature, as one of the eight members of the state commission on county government.

Together with the other members of the commission, Carlson will make recommendations to the next session of the legislature regarding legislation to give counties greater self-government.

The number of officials and assistants, and their salaries are fixed by county government bills passed by the legislature under the present system of county government. Under this system, whenever it is necessary to make any change in the government of a county to create new offices or increase the number of assistants in a department, it is necessary to go before the legislature with a bill.

It is hoped to simplify this system and give counties greater freedom in determining their own needs without recourse to the legislature.

Garage Permit Granted By City

On the recommendation of the city planning commission, the city council last night granted Paul B. Fray a permit to remodel a building on West Richmond avenue.

The structure is to be changed into a garage.

CLAIMS HELD CRIMINAL IN JOURNAL

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—UP— The American Medical Journal criticized as "criminal" tonight the wide publicity given to a cancer treatment used by two San Francisco physicians.

"Many letters and telegrams sent to the headquarters of the American Medical association indicate that the publicity given to the Coffey-Humber cancer treatment has brought about injury to scientific research," said the Journal.

"Regardless of the fact that Drs. Coffee and Humber have stated that their work is purely experimental; that they have no evidence that their preparation is anything more than a substance which produces lytic changes in cancer cells, the great trek of cancer sufferers has begun. Various substances have been devel-

ACTION BEATS LETTER TO CITY

In a written communication to the city council last night Lee D. Windrem, a property owner of the westside, complained about the Pacific Gas and Electric company erecting a second pole in front of his place, and allowing the old pole to remain.

Windrem in his letter said his home was surrounded by poles and asked for relief.

Just about the time that City Clerk, A. C. Faris had finished reading the missive, Windrem arose in the audience and stated that since he had written the letter the electric light company had removed the offending pole.

The council was left with no action to take, so the letter was ordered filed.

Driver Held On Drunk Charges

Harry Criess of Martinez, is in the city jail facing charges of driving while under the influence of liquor.

Criess was arrested by State Traffic Officer Lester Eaton on the state highway near San Pablo last night. He was booked at the city jail here pending a hearing before Justice of the Peace Arthur Alstrom.

YESTERDAY IN CONGRESS

What's What in Husbands

YOU remember the old tale of the mother who insisted that she knew all about children
Because she'd buried ten?
We don't mean to be catty, but we always think of this lady

When we read would-be-wise lore on love and marriage
By any grass widow who knows all about husbands
Because she's divorced four—or more—of them.
The latest expert of this sort to advise the other girls
Is Peggy Hopkins Joyce—need we say more?
Surely we need not, except to mention
That Peggy has Told All in a newly published autobiography entitled, "Men, Marriage and Me."
In literature, as in life, Peggy is what must be described as a fast worker.
It is not necessary even to open her opus
To discover the Joycean formula of what's what in husbands—
She sets down the ten commandments for the perfect husband on the back of her book's jacket.
As an amateur wife, with possibly a quarter of Peggy's experience—
With one husband, we mean to say, instead of four—
We're perhaps rash in reviewing and commenting on her specifications—
Nevertheless, here they are, and here's what we think about them:
A husband, Peggy insists, first-off, "must be rich
"But have a very competent secretary.
"So that he will not have to pay too much attention to business."
Alas, the trouble with rich husbands is that they're so often nice old gentlemen—
And besides, what can a woman really do for a rich husband?

It seems to us that half the fun of being married
Is, in one way or another, to help the man you love—
Help him not because you're noble and unselfish, but because, loving him,
It's so much fun to be a real "helpmate," by working in or out of the home.
"He must be," says Peggy, in Commandment No. 2, "a passionate lover,
"But not a mauler.
"Especially in public or when I am all dressed and made up to go out."
But surely a husband passionately in love is worth the loss of a little makeup!
And a woman—it seems to us—can't herself be very much in love
If she worries about the effect of a fond embrace
On even her best evening frock.
"He must be a good quarreler," according to Miss Joyce.
"Because I cannot be happy unless I have a good fight every day, or so, when things begin to pall,
"And I cannot bear a man who just sits and takes it."
The only answer to this is that tastes differ—
We assuredly can be happy without a fight "every day or so"—
Even though we admit that "never a cross word" is a counsel of matrimonial perfection
Which we cannot follow.
Still, we must be a domestic pacifist, compared to Peggy—
By the way, we do agree with her that, if there is a fight,
A husband should stand up for his rights—
We loathe the meek, housebroken type of married man.
"He must not be a teetotaler," is the next specification,
"It is not much fun to go out with a man who will not even drink champagne."
If Peggy means that a husband must be a companionable sort, we agree.
But we don't think the champagne test infallible, particularly if it's the sort of champagne on sale these days—
When we go out, our fun is much more dependent
On the amusing things a husband has to say than on anything he has to drink.
Next, "he must be a gentleman and polite," pronounces Peggy.
"Except when we are fighting, of course."
Polite, yes, but not formal—
We like to have a husband carry a heavy suitcase,
But we'd be bored to death if he thought he must always jump to pick up a handkerchief when we drop it.
"He must," decrees Peggy, "pay attention to details, such as knowing what I like, a
"And he must not be the kind that thinks he must order rich food
"Just because he is in a good restaurant.
"I hope I am a lady, but this does not mean
"I do not enjoy onions and sauerkraut and pickles and a good thick steak sometimes.
"As well as canard a l'orange and caviar."
In general, this specification seems fair enough.
But in one detail it seems to us incomplete.
The really perfect husband, we'd tell Miss Joyce, not only knows how to order a good thick steak
But how to broil it, on the maid's night out.
"He must," she furthermore decrees,
"Get up first in the morning
"And go out and not let me see him until he is shaved.
"It is very tiring to have to look at a husband early in the morning."
Oh, well, dear lady, think how tiring it is to look at a wife
In her before-breakfast cold cream and crimpers!
Ultra-fastidious souls may differ from us,
But we maintain that it's a thin and frail sort of love
Which cannot endure the ordinary and almost necessary revelations of home life,
Which cannot, without flinching, behold a shaving brush and a toothbrush—even in action.
"He must not," Peggy protests, "stop telling me I am beautiful
"Just because I am his wife."
It's a great trick—if he can be made to do it—
But can he?
"He is expected to be moderately jealous," she concedes.
"But he should not fly into a rage just because other men pay me attentions."
It's a poor rule that doesn't work both ways—
And any wife who lays down this one should ask herself
If she is willing to have it work for her husband's benefit, as well as for her own.
"I like tall, dark, blue-eyed men, over thirty-five at least," Peggy concludes.
"But, providing he fulfils all the other specifications, he can be young or old, tall or short—anything but poor and fat."
Well, we like tall, dark, brown-eyed men over thirty-five—
But our own specifications—which were met—also included
Intelligence, humor, tolerance, determination, candor, love for the things we love best—books and the ocean, understanding—
That is what's what in husbands, if you ask us—
Yet maybe the real secret of the formula is that every woman compounds her own—
Not ours, not Peggy Joyce's—but hers—
Here's hoping that every woman finds the husband who lives up to HER specifications!

WHEN IT'S APPLE-BUSTING TIME

IN a mimeographed communique to the newspapers, Babe Ruth declares he will retire on an income of $25,000 a year unless the Yanks come across with eighty-five grand in salary. He asserts he can easily make a good living indorsing baseballs, underwear, gloves, equipment, writing articles and giving radio talks. That's threatening 'em, Babe!

Sporting news for 1930 in case the Babe doesn't sign up:

NEW YORK, April 27.—Babe Ruth, the Sultan of Signatures, played a doubleheader here to-day indorsing articles. The first thing under consideration was a pair of golfing garters. The Bambino took a vicious swing with his fountain pen and indorsed it all over the place, including West of the Rocky Mountains. The count was three and two, for a total of $5,000, when the Home Run King slashed his signature along the dotted line.

The next thing in the indorsing lineup was a popular brand of cigarets. Babe let the first two go by as if he were blindfolded, but when the third one came out of the package he took a deep inhalation and blew the smoke over the left-hand transom for an unequivocal indorsement. The cigar stands gave him a tremendous cheer.

The Bam was on an indorsing spree when the third article came up. It was a new style catcher's mask to wear while eating grapefruit. Grasping his fountain pen, Babe fouled off a couple of ink spots on the left and right walls and then scrawled a magnificent autograph squarely to the centre of the paper. Then he trotted off for a shower and a rub-down.

CAMDEN, N. J., May 16.—Babe Ruth, former Home Run King for the Yankees, made four phonograph recordings in a laboratory here to-day. Two of them were hits, one a theme song and the other one a flop. This gave an average of .500 for the day.

On his first trip to the recording apparatus, the Bambino flied out on a high C. He whammed over a mammy song on his second trip. The third time up he failed to run out a blues song and on his last recording, a lullaby number, he was caught off-key between tenor and second bass.

Babe pocketed $9,000 and a 10 per cent. royalty for his work. He said he will go after Al Jolson's record for forty mammy songs in one season if his knees hold out. McGovern is still playing right field for the Yanks.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Although crippled by writer's cramp and forced to wear a green shade, Babe Ruth, ex-Yankee home run slugger, continued banging out syndicate articles to-day. He has already written twenty-nine so far and expects to whack out seventy-five pieces of copy before the season ends.

"I was wasting my time in baseball and short-changing myself," said the Bambino to the literary scribes to-day. "My idol is George Bernard Shaw, but I hope to out-write him just as soon as I get the hang of how to use a semi-colon. I enjoy this literary game and you couldn't keep a fountain pen out of my fingers even if I had to write for nothing.

"When I think of all the writing I did for Ruppert, autographing baseballs, &c., for $70,000 a year, I realize what a sap I was. I am good for sixty more years in this literary game if my thumb and forefingers don't give out from looking up synonyms."

Horizontal Lines Accent Broad Hips

By Marguerite Barnes

SINCE the natural waistline seems to be here to stay awhile, the wide-hipped woman should choose dresses that make her hips seem as flat as possible. The horizontal tucking, as in the frock at lower left, broadens them. The curved insets of the dress at lower right tend to do the same thing and the narrowness of the shirred inset also adds to the effect of width. The dress in the centre is an excellent choice for the broad-hipped woman. The bertha pointed to the waist narrows it and the curved gores are placed exactly right. They carry your eye down from the waistline and seem to cut off inches from the hips.

James L. West's Appointment as Republican Publicity Man Caused Many Protests — Most of Opposition Is Regarded Unjust

WASHINGTON, D. C.

For no good reason at all there is a terrible hullaballoo in Washington over the selection of James L. West, White House correspondent of the Associated Press, as publicity man for the Republican National Committee.

I am told that a committee of seven Washington newspaper men went to Senator Watson of Indiana, the Administration floor manager in the Senate, to protest. I know something of the shortcomings of professional jealousy in Washington. I am amazed that Senator Watson gave ear to such pettifoggery.

The story is told that another group of twelve Washington correspondents took it upon themselves to protest the appointment of Mr. West to a responsible position with the Republican National Committee on the ground that he was a "Virginia Democrat."

Having known "Jim" West for some years without knowing whether he was a Buddhist, a Democrat or a Virginian, I am inclined to promote my personal unpopularity in the Senate press gallery by asserting that the Hoover Administration is fortunate to snare Mr. West.

As the story goes, the publicity which the talented "Charley" Michelson, former chief of The World's Washington bureau, has disseminated, has got under the skin of the Hoover Administration so badly that the White House feels something ought to be done about it.

It is a matter to which the President has given his personal attenti

Senator Moses, New Hampshire, Chairman of the Republican Senatorial Committee, which will have to stand the gaff for the loss of eight or ten Republican seats in the Senate next November, has not believed that a high-priced publicity man was necessary. "Jim" Shay has been doing a very effective job. Senator Moses has appreciated that.

Claudius Huston, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, turned down two or three men of national prominence for the publicity job to match Michelson's functions on the Democratic side of the fence.

Somehow or other it came to the notice of President Hoover that "Jim" West might be available for the Republican job. The President picked Mr. West. He did so, not from any illusive notion that he might influence the Associated Press. The President is much too smart for that. If he were the veriest tyro, Secretary Akerson would set him straight.

Mr. Hoover likes "Jim" West. He came to know him during the Presidential campaign of 1928. He grew to respect West as the election appeared certain. On the South American trip Mr. Hoover developed a strong liking for the A. P. man, who bothered him for news more than any other newspaper man in the party.

There is no secret around the town about the fact that West has been selected for his new job by the President. Chairman Huston and Senator Moses never were consulted. They are expected to go along in ratification. They will.

It will be no part of "Jim" West's job to issue mimeographed statements under the label of the Republican National Committee in reply to Michelson's daily broadside against the White House.

Any statement issued by the Republican National Committee would be put down as an expression of an Administration viewpoint, which the President did not feel, ought to be entrusted to his Secretary, George Akerson.

Whenever the President has any announcement to make to the American public he knows that it can be handled best by Akerson.

The President has indicated a form of blind faith in Akerson in matters of the sort. The fact that he is leaving Akerson in Washington in a sort of "acting President" role is proof positive of what the President thinks of his chief secretary.

It is a settled fact, therefore, that Hoover publicity is to continue to be directed by the secretary to the President, who occupies the big office where all previous secretaries to Presidents have been enshrined. Akerson has that office.

The job "Jim" West is expected to do is to be different from that which "Charley" Michelson has done so successfully for Jouett Shouse.

Statements devised by Mr. West will not be issued under the auspices of the Republican National Committee. They will come from the offices of Republican Senators and Representatives.

Whatever his undertaking, no real newspaper man in Washington could have anything save the best of wishes for "Jim" West. He is one of the best reporters the town has encountered in twenty years.

The Paris Hat Showing

By Coralie Van Paassen

PARIS.

SPRING millinery is being shown and many new styles are produced. Brims of picture hats are irregular and are attached to the crowns in such a way as to lift the front away from the forehead or to form a little point. Small toques and caps are draped toward the back, away from the brow. Many of the new hats are made of linen, coarse or fine, with spots of artificial silk or a touch of black satin as a trimming. With a small linen hat goes a scarf to match, short and tied like a huntsman's stock or looped under the chin or under one ear.

The colors most common are green of various shades, blue, yellow, pink and gray. Many light colored linens are relieved with small applications of black satin. Beige is put on royal blue, black on golden yellow. When felt is put with linen the hat is always in the picture style. Straw lace of a light color is used with black satin. Plaited straw in three colors is used to make small draped hats and brimmed hats. Knitted and crocheted wool trimmings are put on straws and felts. Big hats are also made of crinoline lace, beige and brown. Black satin turbans are fashionable; the bands of satin are solidly plaited. Crocheted and knitted straws in various colors and patterns are being prepared for the Southern spring. The straws may be closely or openly woven as style suggests. There are afternoon hats of bagota, trimmed with satin ribbon or chiffon. A few silk hats are trimmed with flat cotton flowers or silk or feathers.

All the new materials for the spring show flower patterns, checks, spots and geometric figures, so small as to be indistinguishable a yard or so away. On chiffon, the flowers are large, on crepe satin, crepe de Chine, crepe Georgette or any other dull-faced crepe, small, yellow, green, a dull tea-rose pink, soft blues, bright red, navy blue, black and white, white and black are popular colors, and there are the usual numbers of mixed tweeds, light and dark beige and brown, gray and black, with a fleck of brighter color here and there. Tweed patterns are closely copied in silk and light woolen crepes. Some chiffons have plaids and checks to figure them.

Restoring Furniture

HIGHLY polished furniture is quite apt to get that dull look called "bloom." This can readly be removed by holding a heated iron over the marred surface until this is well warmed. Care must be taken not to blister or scorch the wood. When heated and while still warm, rub the surface vigorously with a soft chamois or piece of flannel.

If the bloom is deep seated this treatment may not be sufficient and must be followed by rubbing with a mixture of lemon oil (two ounces) and shellac varnish (one ounce). Moisten a soft cloth with a little of the mixture and rub until it is evaporated. Several applications may be required to completely remove the bloom.

Two-Color Costumes

ALWAYS it has seemed the proper color balance to wear a dark jacket with a light colored skirt, yet the interchange of this theme made a very clever costume at Palm Beach, the light jacket belted and buttoned in the dark shade of the skirt, the latter matched by a beret. The light sports shoes were tipped and heeled in the dark color.

Learning Through Experience

HOW hard it was to teach James punctuality! His mother had reasoned, scolded, punished; but, nevertheless, again and again, the boy came home late to his meals, music lessons—practically every appointment. For Christmas he had received a watch. This had helped him for a while, but he soon slumped back into his old bad habit.

One Saturday morning James's mother reminded him that he would have to be home at 12 o'clock sharp, as the whole family was making the 1.15 train for town as they had tickets for a "show." Little did she dream that he would be late for such an appointment! But, just as the family was leaving the house, an unwashed, unfed little boy rushed in. "I'm sorry you are too late to come," said his mother. Her heart nearly broke at the expression of his face! She didn't enjoy one minute of the play, but James learned a lesson he has never forgotten. After this experience, he was always on time. What did his mother's unhappiness or the boy's temporary disappointment matter in comparison with the overcoming of a habit which might have been a handicap all his life?

Experience is often a wonderful teacher. Many mothers, however, constantly shield their children, never allowing them to suffer the consequences of their mistakes. At times, we do have to protect our young ones from too drastic suffering. If Willie refuses to wear his overcoat, to allow him to run the risk of catching a bad cold would be very unwise. But if he fusses about wearing his mittens, why not let him suffer from cold hands, thus learning his lesson? Likewise, if May repeatedly loses her hat, we may feel that we cannot allow her to go hatless. But if she loses her roller skates, because of her carelessness, would it not be most unwise to replace them—at all events, for a time?

If Walter spends all his weekly allowance by Wednesday, and has to do without spending money for the rest of the week, will he not learn a valuable lesson from this experience? If Harriet breaks her doll in a fit of temper and no one has it mended or replaced, will she not realize how foolish she has been? Whenever it seems wise, let us allow our children to "take their medicine," and we shall see how efficacious this treatment is.

Cellar Suggestions

While waiting for the furnace fire to burn up, do not go upstairs and forget all about it. This is a good time to tidy up the cellar, putting each article in its place, keeping the woodpile neat and discarding everything that is useless.

Large hooks and nails in the walls are handy for hanging articles instead of having them take up space on the floor.

Whitewash unplastered walls — it makes the cellar lighter and it acts as a good germicide.

Do not keep oiled or paint-soaked rags or excelsior in the cellar, and dispose of broken articles without delay.

A DISH A DAY

By Nancy Dorris

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

Gala days seem few and far between to the children of the household unless their mother is an imaginative person. Then life becomes pleasantly exciting and home the best place of all.

The regulation holidays, Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's, Easter and Fourth of July are not so apt to be overlooked as the special days, such family anniversaries and birthdays.

When mother partyfies the natal day, the child anticipates the birthday with the same joy he feels around Christmas time. And yet the home celebration of his natal day may be just a special dinner climaxed by a beautifully decorated birthday cake alight with candles.

In one household the same birthday cake is preferred by all the children, only the decorations or the color varying from year to year to meet the taste of the celebrant. Just a simple nut cake that keeps well means Birthday to them. The materials are inexpensive in

AUNT LOULIE'S CAKE

One-half cup of butter
One cup of white sugar
Three yolks, slightly beaten
Two cups of flour
One teaspoon of cream of tartar
One-half teaspoon soda
One teaspoon mixed spices
One-half cup of sweet milk
One cup seeded raisins
One cup broken walnut meats
Three egg whites, stiffly beaten
Oven temperature: 350-400 degrees F.
Baking time: Forty minutes, about
Yield: One large loaf, round or square

Preferably the loaf is baked in a round tin, the reason being that the round shape lends itself to happier decoration. The cake may be baked one day and iced and decorated on the next, the birthday.

To make a successful cake, all the ingredients should be at hand and measured exactly, the nuts cracked, the raisins looked over, the oven lighted, the pan fitted with a greased brown paper lining and the cook's mind at ease.

Cream the butter nicely and when it is like a cream add the sugar a little at a time. Careful blending of creamed butter and sugar adds much to the daintiness of this cake. Incorporate the slightly beaten egg yolks with the butter-sugar.

Sift together the flour, soda, cream of tartar and spices (mixed cloves, cinnamon and nutmeg in equal proportions to make a teaspoon) and then sift the second time. Level measurements, of course! Sprinkle the raisins with a little flour before the first sifting.

Alternately add milk and flour mixture to the butter-sugar-yolks in the mixing bowl. The floured raisins and broken nut meats come next. Whip the egg whites stiff and fold carefully into the dough. Pour at once into the greased paper lined round tin and set in the moderate oven to bake. The baking time ends when the cake has browned beautifully and shrunken a little from the sides of the tin, about forty minutes.

Remove the baked cake from the oven, turn bottom side up on the cake rack to cool. If the cake is to be iced next day, do not remove the paper; if the cake is to be iced, remove the paper and while still warm ice with

UNCOOKED WHITE ICING

One and one-third cup sugar
Two tablespoons cream, about
One teaspoon butter, melted
A few drops of vanilla or lemon

Turn the sugar into a large bowl and add the melted butter and one and one-half tablespoons of the cream. Beat until the sugar and cream-butter are well mixed and then add cream drop by drop until the icing becomes spreadable. Beat until creamy, about two minutes, and flavor. Then spread with a spatula over the top and sides of the round cake arranged up on a large plate or round the bread board.

A spray of flowers made by cutting petals from candied cherries and stems and foliage from anglica may be laid in the centre of the iced cake. A few cherry petals may be scattered over the cake and a leaf or two. The candles may be set among ferns or some bright green arranged artistically around the edge of the large plate upon which the cake is set.

The flowers may be cut from candied pineapple, or any desired fruit, or fresh pastes, or gum drops to give the color the child likes best. Or a little melted chocolate may be added to the icing and a chocolate cake with decorations in cut marshmallows surrounded by bright colored candles borne in to delight the birthday celebrant who cuts it unaided!

MOTHERS' HOPES

What Chance Have They if Real Music Must Be Sacrificed to Machine-made Sound?

MOTHERS strive valiantly to give their children happiness—a chance to enjoy the richest, fullest lives. Contrary forces forever oppose Mother's hopes.

Today change — speed — unrest work to thwart her longing for contentment. . . . The ruthless spirit of the Machine Age threatens to crowd out all humanizing culture. . . . Men and women whiz heedlessly through life to the clatter of the eternal machine. . . . Now, the machine has entered the realm of the musical art. Is this the Song of Progress? No! Machine-made music can never provide a substitute for the mellowing cultural influence of Real Music. Those concerned for the future of the race will resent the strangling of the art of music by a mechanical substitute in the theatre. Yet the art will be strangled if this false economy is not halted by public demand. . . . Here is opportunity for Mother and all who share her hopes to cast a vote for preservation of Living Music. JANET, CHARLES TRIUMPH IN NEW FILM

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell scored a new sensation last night at the Fox-California theater when they made their audible screen musical comedy debut in "Sunny Side Up."

This tuneful light comedy-drama written by DeSylva, Brown and Henderson, has placed the young Fox Movietone stars on a new pinnacle, utterly different but in the same high altitude as did their performance in "Seventh Heaven."

The dainty, wistful little Janet proves her versatility by playing a comedy role, broad in spots and again on the border land of pathos. She sings, she dances, she talks, and she does it all with that touch of genius that has raised her from the rear ranks of extra girls to the front rank of the greatest stars in the entertainment world.

Farrell, too, is called upon to enact an entirely different sort of role than he ever essayed before, and he does it with a dash and finish that stamps him as a superlative actor. Farrell, also, bursts forth into song and if the enthusiasm of the opening night's audience is any criterion, the public will demand that he sing in every production he makes in the future.

DeSylva, Brown and Henderson, long known for their musical comedy hits on Broadway, have contrived a story that holds interest from the opening scene to the final fadeout. The comedy is smart, sophisticated and of the sort that frequently set the audience off in spontaneous bursts of laughter. The dance ensembles, surprisingly novel, are the work of Seymour Felix, while David Butler was the pictorial director.

Sharon Lynn, Frank Richardson, Marjorie White and El Brendel in supporting roles, contribute much to the success of the production. The first three sing several of the song hits of the musical comedy, while Brendel, as a Swedish grocer, carries the burden of the comedy and does several specialties.

There are at least six tremendous song hits in "Sunny Side Up" including "A Talking Picture of You" "Sunny Side Up" "I'm a Dreamer" "Turn on the Heat" "You Find the Time, I'll Find the Place" and "You've Got Me Pickin' Petals Off of Daisies."

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping." Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

Vallejo Man Kills Ex-Wife, Ends Own Life

VALLEJO, Feb. 17—After repeated futile attempts to affect a reconciliation with his divorced wife, Fred Shafer, 45, an employe of the navy yards in Vallejo shot her before more than 200 churchgoers yesterday, and then turned the gun on himself. Both died almost instantly.

Shafer, according to witnesses, lurked in the vicinity of a prize fight pavilion for nearly an hour before Mrs. Shafer appeared.

Seeing her, Shafer, who was nearly a block away in an automobile, drove recklessly toward the woman, sideswiping three other cars in his mad dash.

He drove his car over the curb near her, and before onlookers could interfere, produced an automatic pistol from his pocket, and fired four shots at his former wife. All of the bullets took effect.

"Why did you do that, Fred?" Mrs. Shafer is said to have cried as she fell to the pavement.

Shafer leveled the gun at his left breast as several by-standers rushed to aid the dying woman, and pulled the trigger twice. The remaining bullet in the gun he sent through his brain.

According to Harry Gee, Mrs. Shafer's attorney, the dead woman obtained a divorce from Shafer last September. When Shafer was facing a county jail sentence for annoying her two weeks later, Mrs. Shafer intervened and saved him.

A week later, according to Gee, Shafer not only threatened her life, but that of Judge J. E. Colthurst.

Mrs. Violet Peterson, 18, of Grass Valley, and Arnold Shafer, 13, of Vallejo, who was living with his mother, were the only children of the couple.

Motorist Fined For Recklessness

MARTINEZ, Feb. 17.—J. W. Adams of San Francisco, arrested on a charge of drunken driving, today appeared before Justice of the Peace Frank Glass on a reduced charge of reckless driving and was fined $200.

Adams was arrested near Pinole Saturday nihgt by Traffic Officer Charles Nissen.

Couple Try To Be Wed Again In Court Here

Just to make sure, Zennon Gonzales, 22, and his bride, Lorenza, 23, who were married last Saturday, wish to have the nuptial knot retied.

Not that the newlyweds are not satisfied with the marriage ceremony, but it is their wish to make sure of their legal status wherever they go.

Rev. Joseph De Nicholas of the St. Paul's Catholic church performed the ceremony Saturday in San Pablo, and since then the couple has tried in vain to be remarried.

The reason for this seemingly inane ambition is that the pair is going to Mexico where only a civil wedding is recognized. Therefore, Gonzales and his bride appeared before Justice of the Peace Arthur Alstrom and asked him to do the work all over again.

Judge Alstrom was perfectly willing to oblige the pair, but was unable to perform the ceremony because of the absence of a marriage license.

Mr. and Mrs. Gonzales immediately went back to see Rev. De Nicholas where they learned that he had already filed the wedding certificate and recorded the marriage as a church affair.

Judge Alstrom then ruled that they could not be married again without procuring a new license, or a special certificate.

The harrassed couple is now trying to decide whether or not to pay two dollars for a new license and start all over again.

NAVY MEET AT CRISIS

he set forth a French naval program so large that it caused consternation among the other delegates although it pleased the people of France.

If someone else were chosen to carry on here in his stead, the French stand could hardly be more rigid, observers believed, but on the other hand Tardieu's successor could not risk surrendering any of the French prestige already gained at the conference.

Hope was expressed here that Tardieu would be reappointed Premier and again head the French naval delegation. However, political crises in France have a way of stretching out, and this one might do so to the embarrassment of the conference.

U. S. Delegates Mum

American delegates refused to comment directly today on the Japanese figures, but the programs submitted were believed impossible of acceptance in their present form. Japan clung to her demand for 70 per cent of auxiliary naval strength, as compared with the United States, and the French demanded roughly 724,000 tons of warships by 1936.

The French figures might cause Britain to build beyond her present desire, and in turn force the Americans up, thus further complicating the Japanese demand for a 70 per cent ratio.

The Japanese stand was considered for an hour and a half at St. James' palace today. The Japanese looked grave as they left the meeting. It was understood the discussion dealt with an immediate reduction in battleship fleets.

Pact Near

Georges Leygues, French minister of marine, arrived from Paris tonight. He was to be followed by foreign minister Aristide Briand, unless the cabinet collapse changed the plan.

A British spokesman held out scant hope of France obtaining a non-aggression pact in the Mediterranean. He said the conference was not intended to deal with political questions, and that if such a treaty were contemplated it would be necessary to consult all Mediterranean costal powers.

Natural Gas In Mains Here

Natural gas was turned into Richmond mains yesterday morning while a crew of 200 men from the Pacific Gas and Electric company were busy regulating and adjusting gas appliances in the town.

Larger users of gas, such as industrial plants and apartment houses were covered first, after which the residences were serviced. The job will probably be completed in a few more days.

YOUNG NAMED IN PAVING PROBE

ded another significant development to the investigation when he refused to testify before the grand jury.

When asked by district attorney Earl Warren if he understood that his refusal to testify might be construed against him, Fitzsimmons replied that he knew the fact and still refused to testify.

Frank Phillips, a city paving inspector, was also brought into the limelight today, when J. A. McCarthy, paymaster for the City Construction company, testified that he had made out checks to Phillips under the name of "F. Rose."

Ordered On Payroll

McCarthy declared that Phillips was on the payroll of the company while the Columbia Park paving project was being completed, and that he was ordered to put Phillips on the payroll by A. A. Horwig, superintendent of construction.

The subject of Phillips' employment by the paving company under an assumed name was the object of an investigation by the City Council a year ago. At this time Phillips was exonerated.

That George Rendle, city engineer at the time, knew of the employment of Phillips, was told in McCarthy's testimony.

Little Black Book

McCarthy declared that he had a "little black book" in which he kept a record of all such transactions day by day. According to his testimony, McCarthy turned this book over to Frank Hyams a year ago, who had told McCarthy that he was investigating the paving "scandal" in Oakland.

Hyams was then brought before the grand jury, and produced the "little black book," from which 17 pages had been removed. These pages are said to have contained some of the most important transactions entered by McCarthy.

Hyams was instructed by district attorney Warren to "look around" for the missing pages, and bring them before the grand jury tomorrow.

PITTSBURG TO HEAR TAX TALK

That other cities of Contra Costa county besides Richmond would like to learn something about the subject of taxes, and the reason for their continual increase is evidenced in the announcement that the Pittsburg chamber of commerce will have as its guest speaker this week, J. D. Keith, chairman of the Educational committee of the Contra Costa division of the California Taxpayers' association.

Keith, who is well known locally, will tell the Pittsburg members present of the plans for accomplishment of the local tax unit. The meeting will be held on Thursday following luncheon at Hotel Los Medanos. President George Murray of the chamber will preside.

Following Keith's talk, plans will be discussed for the membership drive of the tax association in Pittsburg.

Driver Faces Speed Charge

E. H. Smith, 248 Monta Vista avenue, Oakland, will appear before Justice of the Peace Arthur Alstrom at 10 o'clock this morning for trial on a charge of speeding 50 miles an hour in a 40 mile zone.

Two weeks ago Smith was arrested on the state highway by Traffic Officer Charles Nissen, who alleged that he and Traffic Oficer Lester Eaton trailed Smith for more than a mile and that at some times Smith was going more than 54 miles an hour.

Smith denied the charge, declaring that although he did not have a speedometer on his car, he never went more than 41 miles an hour at any time.

Miss Ashfield At Eastern Session

Bids Opened For Old River Span

MARTINEZ, Feb. 17.—County award of a contract by the Contra Costa and San Joaquin county boards of supervisors to Ralph Hunter of Sacramento, for reconstruction of the old River bridge, is expected, with the submission of bids here and in San Joaquin county this morning.

Hunter, bidding $72,000 for the job, was the lowest of three bidders in this county, and the next to lowest of eight bidders in San Joaquin county.

According to law, bidders on a joint project must file their offers in both counties, but the low bidder in San Joaquin county failed to place his bid here.

The bridge spans Old River, the dividing line between the two counties.

Hill Will Have Shoulder Reset

J. E. Hill, Richmond insurance man, yesterday entered the Mare Island hospital to have a broken shoulder blade reset.

Long Scores County Agent Buying Plan

MARTINEZ, Feb. 17.—Supervisor James N. Long today declared that unless it was shown that people in the county who paid taxes here, had had opportunity to bid on goods purchased by the county, he would in the future refuse to vote to approve any claim for goods purchased outside the county.

The announcement came as the aftermath of an admission by J. H. Morrow, county purchasing agent, that no one in Contra Costa county had been asked to submit a price on goods desired by the county, that had been purchased from a San Francisco supply house.

Long holding a claim from the supply house for $300, called Morrow before the board, where Morrow's statement was made.

Morrow declared that since he had been purchasing agent for the county, he had shopped around this part of the state, and contended he had saved the county money.

It was formerly revealed that Zeb Knott, former supervisor refused to abide by Morrow's rules and did considerable buying for his district personally.

Morrow, when in the grocery and general merchandise business in Martinez, was one of the most consistant in advocating county buying and his firm did considerable business with the county

Webber Named On San Pablo Fire Board

MARTINEZ, Feb. 17.— Frank Webber was today appointed a member of the San Pablo fire district board to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of C. H. Tyler.

MOTHER TRIES DEATH AFTER QUARREL

PITTSBURG, Feb. 17—Because of a quarrel with her husband at midnight last night, Mrs. Sarah Kerschner, 38, an invalid, mother of three children, plunged a butcher knife with a 10 inch blade into her body in an attempt at suicide.

Mrs. Kerschner's left breast was penetrated by the weapon, which narrowly escaped her heart.

She was taken to San Francisco by a police ambulance early this morning, where surgeons at the St. Francis hospital operated in an attempt to save her life. Kerschner accompanied her to the hospital.

Kerschner told police that he had been absent from his home all day yesterday, coming in about midnight. He was reported to have been drinking.

According to his story to the police, a quarrel developed, and, without any warning, Mrs. Kerschner suddenly grasped the butcher knife and plunged it into her breast.

Charles Hamilton, assistant chief of police questioned the Kerschner children, two daughters, aged 10 and 12, and son, 8.

According to their story, they were awakened by sounds of a dispute about midnight. They were in a bedroom adjoining the room where the quarrel took place. Finally, they said, they heard their mother scream.

Dr. D. C. Wise, family physician, was summoned by Kerschner, and gave the woman first aid treatment and called police.

JEWS, ITALIANS BETTING ON BATTLE

By M. C. YOUNGS

Combined Jewish and Italian populations of San Francisco and surrounding east bay cities are expected to congregate in great numbers at the Recreation ball park, San Francisco Saturday, when Jackie Fields, world's welter weight champion and Young Corbett III, leading contender, step 10 rounds or less.

Jackie Fields, alias Jakie Finklestein, the pride and hope of the Jewish race, has been drawing capacity crowds to his training quarters at the Royal Athletic club, San Francisco, the past week.

Corbett, known to his parents and Italian relations as Raffeals Gioraana, has also been drawing huge crowds to his training camp, which he has established in South San Francisco.

It is estimated that San Francisco has an Italian population of 150,000 most of whom reside in the Columbus avenue and North Beach districts where the Fresno boy hangs out.

Judging from the excitement and interest shown in the north beach section over the coming fight, it is evident that many dollars worth of Bank of Italy securities will be wagered upon the Italian hope.

Intense Training

Each of the fighters have settlet down to intense training.

Fields has been working daily with a trio of left-handed boxers, in an attempt to accustom himself to Corbett's unusual style. The champion of the welters has been studying his opponents and toward the end of last week seemed to have mastered the peculiarities of the southpaw delivery.

Corbett has been working out with Larry Murphy, Al Gracio and Chick Devlin, and Larry White, his manager, declares that Corbett will be "right in the pink" Saturday.

Title Bout At Stake

The fight will mean a lot to the Fresno Italian if he wins, as he will then be able to demand a return bout with the title at stake.

It also would not do Fields any harm to win, as a victory over Corbett, at present the outstanding challenger, would put the Jewish pride in the big money.

Fields is guaranted $25,000 for Saturday's fight, but it has been intimated that with Corbett out of the running, the welter champ may receive $70,000 for fighting Jimmy McLarnin for the championship.

Earliest rumors of the betting circle show that Fields is a two to one favorite.

Fields Has Odds

Although Fields seems to have a slight edge over Corbett, any boy who goes into a ring without the aid of a pair of crutches, figures better than one to two, and Corbett has never been accused of being a cripple.

Although speculation as to the outcome of the brawl runs rampant, there is little or no doubt as to its financial success.

The Jewish and Italian population of San Francisco will see to that, and it is expected that they will flock to the ball park in such numbers as to make Ancil Hoffman, promoting the fight, tread on air.

BEAR CAGERS TO PLAY LOCAL HIGHS

The University of California 140 and 130 pound quintets will give battle to the Richmond union high school varsity and B cagers tomorrow afternoon at the local high school gymnasium. The B contest will start at 3:30 o'clock and will be followed immediately by the varsity game at 4:30.

The lightweight California teams have some of the traits that characterize the varsity college team of Berkeley. The Richmond boys will therefore have a big order when they tangle with the Californians tomorrow in the two contests at the high school.

Richmond's high school athletes will again see action in the high school gymnasium when they clash with the Richmond union high school alumni teams Friday night. A girl's game will also be held between the high school and Alumni girls.

Friday night's contest will probably be the last game of the season in which the Richmond varsity and B athletes will take part.

Y Cagers Win Victory Over Oakland Five

The unlimited Y. M. C. A. basketball team neared the semi-finals in the Eastbay zone play of the Californiad last night when it defeated the Oakland unlimiteds here by a score of 21 to 10.

The Richmond team piled up an early lead and maintained it thruout the game.

Linsted was high man for the locals, scoring eight points while Knapp starred for the losers with seven points.

The local team will meet San Jose Thursday night in the eastbay zone finals.

The lineup last night included:

Richmond 21.—Boschetti 3, Linsted 8, forwards; Baskett 4 center; Pimm 2, Drexel, Johnson 4, Miller, subs.

Oakland 10.—Harrington, Knapp 7, forwards; Crouch 1, center; Sparrowe and McClearand, guards, Jordan ,sub, 2.

MOTOR RACES ON BAY IN MARCH

Outboard motor boats will spin down the Richmond inner harbor in races held under the auspices of the Richmond Motor Boat association early in March, according to plans laid at a meeting of the organization Sunday.

A committee was chosen for these races at Sunday's meeting. Commodore George Lauritzen was appointed chairman of the committee for the affair. The other members of the committee are C. E. Marshall and A. Almeide.

Gordon Perault was selected as chairman of the membership committee, which includes R. B. Dougall and Harold Purviance.

Dr. Francis Kent was named chairman of the publicity committee. W. E. Korton and R. B. Dougall are members of this committee.

The next meeting of the Richmond Motor Boating club will be held at the Richmond inner harbor March 2.

More than half a dozen members of the association skimmed over the harbor Sunday before more than a hundred spectators. Among the enthusiasts who navigated the inner harbor at that time were: Dr. Francis Kent, C. E. Marshall, Carl Zimmerman of Berkeley, C. J. Arnold of Berkeley, W. E. Morton, William Thompson and Rex Meyers.

GAULDONI TO TRY WITH OAKS

William Gauldoni, who plays the man in the iron mask for the San Pablo baseball squad and who was farmed out last year to the Arizona league by the Hollywood Stars, is trying out with the Oakland Oaks at the Emeryville park.

Gauldoni is one of the headiest catchers that has been seen on the local sandlots for some time. He is not only a brainy catcher but also a good batsman.

Gauldoni has high hopes of making the grade with Carl Zamloch's outfit. If he is not signed as a third string catcher the Oaks will probably farm him out in the Arizona league .

Bill had more than tough luck last year. He started out in the spring training camp with the Stars and was then sent to Arizona where he played good ball.

His troubles started when he was hit on the head with a ball during a game and was sent to the hospital.

Appearing in the league a few days later, Bill broke his ankle, an injury that kept him on crutches for many a moon and made baseball playing more than an impossibility.

The Oaks will probably need a good third string catcher this year. Petey Reed, a brainy little receiver lacks bat power and Frank Lombardi, who can hit 'em, will probably be with the Oaks this year.

Bill has been playing first class ball with the San Pablans in the winter league this year .

It is known that he has received a number of offers from the Seals and Missions but he prefers playing with the Oakland squad.

SAN PABLO 9, BEATS VALVES

San Pablo had a great day on the diamond Sunday when they took the Merco Valves into camp with a score of 13 to 5.

About everything "hittable" was hit by the San Pablans, who connected with one three bagger, four two baggers, and 11 singles. Silva was the boy who smashed out the three-bagger for the local aggregation. Tierney collected two double baggers, while the other two base hits were made by Silva, Kamb and Plummer.

Carl Kamb played a neat game on the mound for the San Pablans, allowing but six hits. Three pitchers were used by the Vaives in an attempt to stop the hitting streak of the San Pablo athletes, but in vain.

The only homer of the contest was made by Asaro of the Valve outfit. Perrata gained the Oaklanders' only three bagger.

LOCAL CAGERS WIN FROM VISITORS

Garfinkle's All-Stars swamped the D'Arcy Sport Shop quintet of San Mateo under a score of 39 to 17 last night at the Richmond unio nhigh school.

The Richmond 145 pounders registered a 31 to 22 victory over aCsey's Smoke shop cagers from San Mateo.

Both contests were easy battles for the Richmond athletes. The heavyweight contest remained fairly even during the first half, with the result that the scoreboard read 12 to 9 in favor of the locals. The last half was a victorious march toward the San Ma-

The Richmond lightweights started off in first class style, and were in the lead of a 21 to 3 score at half time. The score evened down to 25 to 13 with the locals still leading by the end of the third canto. Both squads played an even, aggressive batle during the final period .

The Richmond 145 pound outfit will clash with the Martinez athletes Wednesday at 8 o'clock in the Richmond union high school gymnasium.

Both local All-Star aggregations will travel to San Mateo Thursday night to meet the teams that they defeated last night.

The Garfinkle All-Stars will clash with either the Richmond Y. M. I. or the Hutton cagers of Oakland, Feb. 26 at the local high school. A special attraction will be offered in the form of a contest between the local Y. L. I. and the Petaluma Spartan girls' club.

First Game

Garfinkle's All Stars 39— B. Muth 13, Gillan, forwards; Bonham, center; Barbieri 7, Lee at guards ;substitutes, Huzefka 12, forward; Baldwin 2, center; A. Muth 5, guard.

D'Arcy's Sport Shop of San Mateo 17.—Ottoboni, Dugish 3, forwards; C. Caurinus 6, center; Craig 4, Lawrence, guards; substitutes, Maganasso, Bogle 4, forwards.

Second Game

Richmond 145 pounders 31—Melin 3, Maloney 1, forwards; W. Gordon 6, center; Lane 8, G. Gordon 1, guards; substitutes, Weeks 4, Hall 2, forwards; Flynn 6 center; Cornell, guard.

Casey's Smoke Shop of San Mateo 22.—Magganio 3, Weir, forwards; Gibson 1, center; A. Gibson 1, Cherry 2, guards; substitutes, D. Martini 2, forward; Hendrol, center; Raymond 8, Bianchini 6, guards.

Youth Pitches Corey Nine To 2 to 0 Victory

Fifteen-year old Johnny Babich loomed as one of the cleverest hurlers in the eastbay Sunday when he pitched a no hit, no run game to give the Corey Garage nine a 2 to 0 victory over the Agnetian club of Oakland.

Seventeen Agnetian sluggers walked up to the plate and walked back again. Babich's fast curve was too hot for them. Babich also had a big day at the plate, smashing out two doubles.

This 15-year old high school athlete has given the fans something to think about during his service with the Corey nine. In his last 56 innings of chucking, Babich has allowed only 20 hits, and has whiffed 69 sluggers.

He has aided the Coreys in winning seven out of eight contests since he first started chucking for the garagemen.

Rosano had a fine time behind the platter for the local aggregation, and cracked out two hits.

The opponents of the Corey's Garage nine next Sunday will be the Pacific Telephone company athletes of Oakland. The game will be played on the El Cerrito diamond at 2 o'clock.

The Corey boys have been steadily building up a reputation during their career on the diamond, and are now reckoned as one of the most dangerous enemys hereabouts. Their record of seven victories out of eight games played is a pretty hard record to beat. The Agnetians were among the hardest athletes that the garagemen have had to meet this season, and the Coreys handled these Oaklanders in sensational style Sunday.

Dr. Farlinger Has High Score During Martinez Club Shoot

MARTINEZ, Feb. 17.—After being in a triple tie at the end of the regular shoot of the Martinez Gun Club, Dr. C. J. Farlinger of Richmond, fell behind in the additional 25 bird shoot to determine the winner, and Lou Denio won the first shoot of the club.

Dr. Farlinger cracked 49 out of 50 to tie in the regular shoot, but Denio shot a perfect 25 in the additional shoot.

Net Club To Name Players For Matches

The tennis athletes who will represent the Richmond Tennis association in state inter-club competition will be chosen in the finals of a two-game tourney next week at the city hall courts. Six players will compose the local tennis team.

The first part of the tourney was played Sunday. In the singles, C. Bryant was victorious over Jimmie Hurley. J. Murdock defeated W. Regalia. J. Sutton lost to C. Peterson, while M. Truitt defeated A. Remell.

Darrow and I. Sutton won over W. Regalia and L. Moore in the doubles and R. Hayes and J. Hurley took the team of C. Bryant and C. Peterson into camp.

The players who will compete in the singles next week on the local courts are: C. Bryant, J. Hudley, C. Peterson, J. Murdock, I. Sutton, and W. Regalia. Competition in the doubles will be given by J. Hurley and R. Hayes against C. Petersen and C. Bryant.

These local tournaments are being held under the direction of Jack Murdock, C. Peterson and L. Moore.

Inter-club competition will begin during the first week in March.

Y Cage Title Game Tonight

The San Pablo Baptists and the First Christian cagers will battle for the title of the Y. M. C. A. church league tonight at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The contest will start at 8 o'clock.

Tonight's game is the third of a series of three games for the league championship. The first was won by one point by the Christian champs of the A division, but the second game was won by a large margin by the San Pablo Baptists.

With such a brand of competition existing between the two leaders, plenty of hard-fought basketball ought to be dished up to church league fans tonight at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

Many See Local Soccer Players Beat Oaklanders

A record turnout of soccer fans watched the Richmond Junior Soccer outfit register a startling 5 to 0 victory over the Scandias of Oakland Sunday at Nicholl park.

Richmond started off slowly in Sunday's contest, but constantly maintained the offensive. Near the end of the half, Doug Brain popped the ball into the Scandias' net for Richmond's first score. At half time, Richmond was leading 1 to 0.

Then Richmond started on the rampage, and the Scandia goal was the center of a fast melee throughout the last half. A pretty kick from L. Grice to Frank Ehlert, who relayed it into the Scandias' net, accounted for Richmond's second goal. Lems, local inside right, then beaded the ball between the Oak'anders' goal posts for Richmond's third score.

A pass from Ehlert to Hood accounted for Richmond's fourth counter. Nick Bracco then dribbled down almost the entire field to smash the ball into the Scandias' unfortunate net for the local's last goal.

The largest crowd to ever make their way to Nicholl park to view an athletic contest was present at Sunday's game. Mayor A. L. Paulsen was among the fans newly converted to the increasingly popular sport of soccer.

The Richmond eleven will tangle next Sunday with the Phoenix aggregation of Oakland. The contest has been scheduled to be played at Nicholl park, as a result of the enthusiasm shown at Sunday's game, it may be played at the Oakland Trotting park as a preliminary to a senior soccer league match.

MOTORS PLAY TITLE GAME SUNDAY

A brilliant slugging streak in the last four innings was the main cause of the Thomas Motors 8 to 1 victory over the Oakland Billiards Sunday.

The local club was leading 1 to 0 in the sixth inning. The Motors then commenced to hit the sphere into every corner and even out of the diamond. McCoy of Richmond had a big day at the platter, making good four out of five chances. J. Labetich smashed out a homer for the Motors, while Peacock garnered a four bagger for the Billiards.

Doyle Taylor was one of the main factors in Richmond's victory over the Oaklanders Sunday. He allowed only three hits, and hurled as well at the end of the contest as he did in the first inning.

The Thomas Motors, winners of the first round of the Oakland Winter league, will clash with the P. S. E. A. nine next Sunday in the final game of the league season. If the Motors are successful in their contest with the P. S. E. A. athletes of Oakland, they will be titlists of the league. However, they cannot be too sure of themselves, for the P. S. E. A. outfit has had a long series of victories to its credit during the last round of the league.

The scene of this final battle has not yet been decided upon.

The local players who saw action in Sunday's contest were: Borreani, catcher; Taylor, pitcher; Penella, first; J. Labetich ,second McCoy, third; M. Labetich, short stop; Mailho, right field; Figuerido, center field; Whetzler, left field.

THE FONG WAN HERB CO.
Dear Mr. Fong—I am writing this letter to express my gratitude for the splendid results and benefits I have received from the use of the Chinese Herbs prepared by you.
I had a complication of Liver, Gall-Bladder and Stomach Trouble with sharp, stabbing pains in the lower right side of my Abdomen. The region of the Liver was exceedingly sore and tender; so much so that even loose clothing became irritating and uncomfortable. My Stomach was also very sore to the touch and felt as if there were a lump the size of an egg in it. After meals, food which was very sour and burned the throat, was returned to the mouth. This condition steadily became worse over a period of a year. During this time, I was treated by two doctors without any appreciable results. Both decided that an operation was necessary.
By good fortune, I came into contact with a man whom you had treated successfully for an Ulcerated Stomach, and he strongly urged me to take your treatment. This I did.
Results were noticeable the very first week, and now, after six weeks, I am entirely free from the terrible stabbing pains and the soreness over my Liver. My digestion is good. The old feeling of lassitude has completely disappeared and I feel much brighter and more energetic than I have for years.
I am most happy to strongly recommend the herbs of the Fong Wan Herb Co. as prepared by you.
Wishing you unbounded success, and again thanking you for what you have done for me, I am
Very cordially yours,
CYRIL MAW.

The Green Goddess

"The Green Goddess," starring George Arliss, is a Warner Bros. Vitaphone picturization of this novel.

CHAPTER I

ARMISTICE DAY and its solemn celebrations had passed when the regiment was ordered from Sumnee to Dehra Dun, a more interesting, less narrowed station in itself and less service-bound. There was civilian life in Dehra Dun, and Lucilla Crespin was not sorry to know a few civilians again. She had been in India five years, having left her widowed father, the Vicar, to his books, his garden, his church and his parishioners. It had cost her a pang to leave him upon her marriage to Major Antony Crespin and go out to India with her husband. She had not liked Sumnee any too well, though she had been happy with her husband and with the two babies, Ronny and Iris, when they came. There had not been much companionship for her in Sumnee and she looked forward to civilian life in Dehra Dun. She made several interesting such acquaintances there, and the most interesting of them all turned out to be Dr. Basil Traherne, an old schoolmate of Major Crespin's.

The Great War had irked Crespin—because in it he had been debarred from the active service he craved to be sent on and had been kept relentlessly in India—and to have any pleasure [illegible] his wife. And so Mrs. Crespin went up with Traherne, and very much more than once. Crespin went with them once or twice, but he did not care for it greatly, and he didn't mind saying so. Usual Traherne and Mrs. Crespin flew alone—with or without a mechanic. They did not fly very far, and they did not fly over-often, and Traherne took no risks when his friend's wife was with him. But Lucilla Crespin liked it keenly; she talked about it, and th ught about it a great deal.

There are no tete-a-tetes in the air, but they shared an exhilaration, a splendid new experience, and a pastime that they almost equally liked. They enjoyed and treasured it more because they shared it. And the very silences it enforced fed the intimacy that grew between them.

When they landed it was natural that Dr. Traherne took Mrs. Crespin to her bungalow, and followed her in for tiffin or tea. They found a great deal to say to each other. He knew he was welcome; she knew that he liked to be there. And Traherne's visits at the Crespins' bungalow gradually grew more frequent and longer. And Major hurt him as only a soldierly soldier can be hurt, and by that one thing: having to "stand-by" and do the "damned cushy" jobs when other chaps were losing legs and eyes and lives in Flanders and Gallipoli—but also it incidentally made him a Major, and a really fine wireless expert.

He did his "bit," of course, and he did it well, but he chafed and swore, and came near breaking his heart.

Basil Traherne—the celebrated Dr. Traherne now—and Antony Crespin had been at Harrow together, fag and fag-master. But they had not met since, and Crespin seemed less glad to re-encounter his one time fag than might have been natural; for the boys had been really good friends.

But that was over twenty years ago—Crespin was thirty-eight now, and Traherne was thirty-three—and a good deal changes in most of us, as well as around us, in twenty years.

Mrs. Crespin liked Traherne immediately, and he returned her liking cordially—and was grateful for it. And Major Crespin was more glad to have the physician "amuse the wife" than he was to see much of him himself.

Traherne interested Lucilla Crespin at once—they seemed to like and to dislike (a surer test of sympathy) the same people, things and books. And when she heard that he not only was the perhaps greatest living authority on malaria, and certainly the coming doctorman as far as Oriental disease was concerned, but also was "mad on flying," was no mean pilot, and had a "bus" of his own, she actually clapped her hands, and said, "Oh, Dr. Traherne—I never have been—will you take me up?"

Colonel Agnew was vastly pleased that "Crespin's wife had found something to wake her up again, something to interest her."

Colonel Agnew—Crespin's C. O.—had a cold blue eye, a terrible temper, as curry-hot as any in Anglo-India, and a heart of soft warm gold. He admired Mrs. Crespin more than any woman he knew, and loved her almost as much as he did Kathleen, his own motherless girl. Colonel Agnew was grateful to Mrs. Crespin for a service not exactly regimental; for it was she who had coaxed Kathleen back into her senses when that blithering young ass Bob Grant had made such a silly goat of himself—before Colonel Agnew had contrived a way to get the fool transferred. The old soldier felt that he owed Mrs. Crespin more than he could hope ever to pay. And he had been sore at heart over her this many a day now.

Major Crespin was only too glad Crespin stayed at home more and more, strolled off to mess or club less and less when Traherne was in the drawing-room or on the veranda. And something of the old cordial relation between them and Harrow came back to the two men at Dehra Dun.

Traherne played with the young sters often too. They were attractive children and the bachelor physician was very fond of children. And little Iris and Ronald Crespin soon came to [illegible] him as very much a possession of their own.

If his regiment was at once Colonel Agnew's weakness and strength, equally her babies were Lucilla Crespin's — her weakness and her strength. Iris was four now, Ronald was two. And Antony Crespin loved them both almost as much as he loved his wife.

All the regiment knew, and as good as all of the station, that there was an ugly, desperate rift in the Crespins' lute.

Major Crespin drank. And he had not been faithful. Every one blamed him fiercely. And no one in the least blamed Mrs. Crespin for anything that had come or might come—no one but Basil Traherne.

He blamed them both, and pitied them both. He believed that Mrs. Crespin could have handled the tragedy more wisely and more usefully than she did.

He saw the rift as clearly as any—deplored it, for he knew, what no one else but Antony himself did, that because of it and of what had made it, Major Crespin suffered and regretted even more intensely than the woman did.

Dr. Traherne believed that some not much, but some, of the fault was Lucilla Crespin's. And that he did, proves him as fine in manhood as he was in physicianship: for before he had known her a month Traherne knew that he loved Antony Crespin's wife.

CHAPTER II

COLONEL AGNEW was furious, splutteringly, dementedly furious, and at the same time coldly, and determinedly furious. No one ever had seen him so angry before. Kathleen, who ruled and teased and mocked him openly, poured out his coffee, and passed him the ginger-jam silently and abjectly. And a few moments after breakfast she fled from his presence—her own Daddy darling's—determined to avoid it for the rest of that day.

Kathleen knew what it all was about. It was early morning yet, but all the regiment knew, and by tiffin all the station would know. And Whitehall would know by the very next mail home.

SCIENTISTS HIT CANCER CURE PUBLICITY

oped in the past that will produce lytic changes in cancer cells.

"Under these circumstances it is nothing less than criminal for newspapers to arouse the hopes of cancer sufferers and to cause the families of such sufferers to expend the limit of their funds to make the journey to California.

"No doubt future reports by Drs. Coffee and Humber will emphasize still further this point of view."

AIRPLANE PATIENT RESTING EASY

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—UP—A woman whose life has nearly been claimed by cancer and for whom an airplane raced 1100 miles against death 'was brighter and looked a little better' here tonight.

Mrs. Irving Edwins, the most prominent patient of St. Mark's hospital at present, had eaten during the day for the first time in several months .

Her case was furnishing medical science with a rare problem. Mrs. Edwins' physician, Dr. G. Rhodes, was using old methods to strengthen her so that a recent discovery might be given a fair test.

Dr. Rhodes admitted he knew little about the extract from suprarenal glands that has been found by specialists of the Southern Pacific hospital, Dr. Walter B. Coffee and Dr. John B. Humber.

No Claims Made

Dr. Coffee and Dr. Humber, themselves, have refrained from any positive claims for the extract, which has appeared to them to haev given interesting results in the treatment of malignant growths. hey have asked disinterested parties at four California colleges to study the fluid and have asked Dr. Rhodes to handle Mrs. Edwins' case in their absence from the city.

In the hope that the extract might be beneficial to his wife and the mother of his four children, Irving Edwins mortgaged his farm and chartered the aerial ambulance that brought Mrs. Edwins here in 10 hours from Wenatchee, Wash. his trip was not authorized previously by Dr. Humber or Dr. Coffee, they said. In taking the case they made it clear they were only stepping in due to the emergency and had enough patients for experimentation work.

Getting Along Well

"She is getting along very well, considering everything," Dr. Rhodes said. "We are stimulating her so that the extract may possibly have a fair chance to show its value.

"Her cheeks are pinker but that is undoubtedly due to the blood transfusion she had yesterday.

"She has responded well to the treatment but she has had expert nursing and a chance to rest from her trip. It is absolutely impossible to say at this time whether the extract has had any beneficial results."

Suspect Held On Petty Theft Count

PAVING JOB TO BE DONE WITH OLD ROCK

On the complaint of Councilman Charles W. Zimmerman that Street Commissioner Phil A Lee was using new rock and asphalt to repair the shoulders on the west side of San Pablo avenue instead of the old rock and waste the city council of El Cerrito Monday night instructed Lee to repair the balance of the work as originally instructed.

Lee said that he thought he was doing the work as instructed and would make a much better job with the new rock and asphalt but the council decided to finish the work as ordered at first.

City Attorney J. H. Peters reported that Fire Chief Arthur Byrd had written some of the owners of the shacks in El Cerrito and that he would write others this week and the city would probably get some action on the removal of the shacks.

Police Judge J. F. Plank reported fines collected in January of $777.50 for motor vehicle violations and $365 for violations of city ordinances.

Taxes collected for the month of January were $436.10 according to the report of Tax Collector R. R. Cheek.

On the recommendation of Fire Commissioner J. R. Beck the council ordered that a new hose rack be purchased for the fire department truck.

Final arrangements for the installation of a six inch water main were made when the council instructed the mayor and city clerk to enter into a contract with East Bay Municipal Water District. The council ordered $468 additional paid as requested by the water district for 300 feet of water main. The first payment was for $1295.

Richmond Eagle Drum Corps was granted a permit to hold a dance at Central hall on Feb. 22.

Rezoning Of Property Asked

C. E. Meginity of 1414 Barrett avenue desires to have his property rezoned from residential to business, and petitioned the city council last night for action. The matter was referred to the city planning commission.

It is Meginity's intention to change the building now on the property into a salesroom for outboard boats, and motor boating supplies.

Man Fails To Pay R. R. Fare, Held

James T. Webb, who has no permanent address and who was going "nowhere in particular" according to police, will face Police Judge C. A. Odell this morning on a charge of evading payment of railroad fare.

Webb was arrested at the Santa Fe terminus here by railway police and was then turned over to the local police department.

Mother Seeks Aid In Search For Lost Son

In Springfield Mass., a grieving mother and a grandmother critically ill, are keeping the home fires burning in the hopes of some day finding their son and grandson who have disappeared.

In a recent communication to the RECORD-HERALD, Mrs. Celia Chodrowe, the mother of David J. Chodrowe, has appealed for aid in locating her missing son.

The grandmother of the missing boy is seriously ill and it is hoped that word from the boy might prolong her life.

The boy is believed to have been seen in this vicinity recently, supposedly traveling under the pseudonym of "Ernest Williams."

According to the mother's description, the boy appears to be about 20 or 21 years of age, is 6 feet 1-2 inches in height and weighs about 190 pounds. He has dark brown coarse hair, hazel eyes and a medium complexion, tanned by the sun.

H euses good English and is reserved, making few friends. He is reported to be a lover of good literature and visits libraries.

Mrs. Chodrowe's address is 121 Daviston street, Springfield, Mass., and she requests that anyone who has seen her missing son, communicate with her at that address.

If his whereabouts are known now, Mrs. Chodrowe requests that a telegraph be sent her immediately.

Troop 13 Has Birthday Fete

The first anniversary of Troop No. 13 of Richmond Boy Scouts was celebrated by the troop last night at a parents' night celebration held in the parish house of the First Presbyterian church.

Troop numerals and neckerchiefs were distributed to members of the troop.

Scout "stunts" were presented during the night.

Man Held On Peace Charge

Charged with disturbing the peace, Americo Novolo, 612 Chanslor avenue, is in the city jail awaiting hearing before Police Judge C. A. Odell this morning.

Novolo was arrested by Richmond police yesterday.

Protect Your Furniture

A $1.25 to Rid Your Home of Moths May Save You Hundreds of Dollars.

MORTEMOTH KILLS MOTHS

The gas from Mortemoth crystals not only protects your furniture for a long time, but contact with it kills all moths, their eggs and their dangerous larvae in furniture which is already infested.

The proper method of using Mortemoth crystals is to tie them in small sacks, and to place these sacks down in the channel of the piece, as deeply as possible, behind the cushions, so that, upon expansion, the gas will spread and fill the spring units in the back and in the bottom of the piece.

When the sacks are empty, fill them again.

Richmond Vets, Musical Club At Maine Fete

Members of the Admiral Dewey camp of United Spanish War Veterans Sunday attended services held at the Oakland Memorial hall in memory of the sinking of the United States battleship Maine in the harbor of Havanna in 1896.

The E. H. Liscum camp, of Oakland, was hosts to the gathering of Spanish War veterans from al lparts of the eastbay.

In the evening patriotic services were held in honor of the memories of Washington, Lincoln and McKinley.

The Richmond Musical club played a part in both celebrations. In the morning they joined with the Park Avenue Choral and sang three selections, "Crossing the Bar" "The Angel" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

At the services in the evening a trio, compcsed of Mrs. Ruth Bergen, Mrs. Irma Shallenberger and Mrs. Marcia Poage of Richmond, sang "The Story of Old Glory." Mrs. Irma Randolph, also of Richmond, sang "Lead Kindly Light."

More than 1000 veterans attended both services.

MARQUETTE OWNERS

IT has lightning get a way and its performance is unexcelled.
D. R. JOHNSON

IT'S hill climbing ability is in a class by itself.
FRED SIMONDS.

IT'S sky rocket acceleration makes it the "boss" in traffic and it knows no master on the highway.
C. R. McILWAIN.

THE Marquette has all and more than the qualities claimed for it. It has smooth flowing speed, a brilliant pickup, is easily handled and carefully as we have checked it over, shows nothing but the best of material and workmanship.
VICTOR V. ALLEN.

IT is easy to handle in traffic or on the road. Seventy-six miles per hour as easy as forty-five. Wonderful brakes, quick pickup, easy riding, adjustable seat and one of the best looking cars on the market today, regardless of price.
B. K. WHITE.

FOR EASE OF HANDLING, quick acceleration, power on hills, facility in city traffic, riding comfort, and economy, this automobile is a revelation I have owned higher priced cars but never a better one.
PAUL FONTAINE.

MY wife takes a keen pleasure in driving the car because it is so easy to steer, and the gearshift lever so easy to operate.
C. E. OLSEN.

ON a trip of 1200 miles I have reached 17 1-2 miles to a gallon of gasoline.
CLYDE W. BAILEY

I have always admired the appearance — the fleet lines — of the Marquette. All in all, it appeals to me as a car finer than any in it's price class.
J. L. STUART

I have no fault to find with it in any way, and I don't believe there is another car made at that price that can compare with the Marquette.
D. E. I. WILLIAMS

To date we have driven our Marquette over fourteen thousand miles and it has behaved in a most satisfactory manner in every way, and is the most economical car we have ever owned.
MRS. J. L. KEIR.

WE are very much pleased indeed with the acceleration, power, operating economy and the outstanding performance of this splendid automobile.
P. C. FAIR.

IT handles very easily, has excellent pickup and speed. We have seen 78 on the speedometer.
JOE FARRANN.

IT is the smoothest riding, driving car I have ever owned.
J. F. ELWOOD.

MY Marquette has been driven 9000 miles without any expense at all and could not ask any more of any automobile than I am getting out of the Marquette.
